POP THE QUESTION
SADIE HAWKINS STYLE

Both strong-willed and respected leaders of Chicago society, Potter and Bertha ignited a romance that led to an eventual engagement and one of the most extravagant wedding gifts of all time: The Palmer House. The Romance continues throughout every turn of the hotel from ballrooms adorned with garnet-draped chandeliers, Louis Comfort Tiffany masterpieces, and a breathtaking ceiling fresco of 21 canvases of Greek Mythology by French painter Louis Pierre Rigal. The fresco was once described by columnist George Will as "a wonderful protest of romance against the everydayness of life."
