SOMETHING'S SPROUTING UP INSIDE PALMER HOUSE

INDOOR AGRICULTURAL REVOLUTION BEFORE YOUR EYES

We're farming and cultivating within Palmer House at Lockwood Restaurant. That's right, we've brought the outdoors inside with 3 bookcase-sized farming systems that are powerful enough to provide us ample amounts of fresh produce each week. We can select from over 40 different variations of leafy greens, herbs and edible flowers which we incorporate in our cocktails and dishes – it really doesn't get much fresher than growing feet from your plate, especially given that most of the food you consume these days is grown 1500 miles away.

What we really like about Farmshelf is that it simplifies the growth process with automation. Seedpods sprout in the hidden drawer system and the LEDs, nutrient delivery, airflow and temperature are all managed remotely from Brooklyn. Plus our little farms use 90% less water, grow 3x faster and allow us to harvest exactly what we need, eliminating packaging, food waste and did we mention, they're pretty cool looking too. Coupled with our commitment to the regenerative agricultural movement, Chicago Bridge partnership of food donations, oceans certification, elimination of straws and incorporation of the Light Stays meeting planner tools, we're ensuring you not only have the best possible stay with a full belly, but also one that's eco-friendly too.

Be sure to ask about our botanical cocktail program derived from our indoor farm. We can also grow and cultivate herbs and leafy greens to add a pop of color, sustainability and conversation.

PALMER HOUSE BROWNIE

INGREDIENTS

- 5.25 oz 60% dark couverture chocolate
- 9.75 oz butter
- 12.75 oz granulated sugar
- 5 ea eggs
- 3.5 oz all-purpose flour
- 1/8 tsp baking powder
- 8 oz chopped walnuts

DIRECTIONS

1. Preheat oven to 350 degrees.

2. Melt chocolate and butter in a double boiler. Mix the baking powder, sugar and flour together in a bowl. Combine chocolate and flour mixtures. Stir 4 to 5 minutes. Add eggs and continue mixing.

3. Pour mixture into a 9x12 baking sheet. Sprinkle walnuts on top, pressing down slightly into the mixture with your hand. Bake for approximately 35 minutes.

4. Brownies are done when the edges begin to crisp and has risen about 1/4 of an inch.

Note

When the brownie is properly baked, it will remain “gooey” with a toothpick in the middle due to the richness of the mixture.

HOW SCOTT COOKED UP HIS OWN DREAMS

WITH EXECUTIVE CHEF SCOTT GOURLEY

I'VE ALWAYS HAD AN INTEREST IN FOOD STARTING AT A VERY YOUNG AGE.

Admittedly, one of my first memories as a child was trying to order frog legs at a restaurant. I suppose I was always destined to become a chef and became completely enamored with the top (fancy) restaurant in town. I would look through their menu which was printed in the phone book and imagine what I would order and how it would taste because much of the menu had entrees and selections that I had had yet to experience. Then I got my first big break in sixth grade. My mother started a new job so I offered up the responsibility of preparing dinner for my family after school. I'd skim through a variety of cook books and would lay out the family menu for the week. In high school, I kept experimenting and as luck would have it, that fancy restaurant in town was hiring a dishwasher. I practically knocked down their door and was hired! I was finally able to try all dishes that I had imagined for so many years - lobster, scallops, raw oysters and most notably the escargot. Escargot is still a favorite of mine and I'll always order if it's on the menu. From there I proved myself and was invited to cook at that same restaurant and then went onto the Le Cordon Bleu Culinary School in Chicago.

I can remember making enchiladas, unsure of exactly what they were, from a 70s Betty Crook cook book. Maybe it was the ingredients, maybe it was the recipe, but I can say my first attempt wasn't the greatest. I later came to find out enchiladas are nothing like what I cooked that day when my wife, Nereida's mother, who is from Mexico, shared with me a variety of cooking techniques to prepare dishes she grew up eating, including enchiladas. A major lesson was learned that day - authentic recipes, fresh, high quality ingredients and techniques will always prevail and prove to be the best preparation of any dish.

Moving to Chicago exposed me to a full spectrum of food, flavors and cuisine from around the world. Working as a chef has allowed me to sample ingredients and preparation styles to continually cultivate my knowledge of this amazing industry. I always aspired to be part of the culinary scene since I was a little boy. The desire that pushed me to get that first job in the fancy restaurant has inspired me today. The kids, the ones that aren't afforded food culture from the onset, but who desperately want to be part of this crazy industry - they are who I cook for today and they are who I get the most pleasure in working with to further develop their skills and palette in our kitchen today.

"Most of the traveling my wife and I do is driven by our desire to experience authentic dishes from different regions and corners of the world. We recently visited Los Angeles for the first time on a mission to taste our way through the LA Mexican scene and compare to the Chicago Mexican foods that we're grown accustom. We've also made a point in the last several years to travel throughout different regions of Mexico for that same reason."

CHOOSE YOUR CHICAGO STYLE

THE BEST CHICAGO ATTRACTIONS INCLUDE VAST CITY PARKS, INTRIGUING MUSEUMS, SOARING SKYSCRAPERS AND EXPLORING THE CRITICALLY-ACCLAIMED FOOD SCENE

Chicago is a city unlike any other. Voted the Best Large City for 3 years in a row by Conde Nast Traveler, we've got the architectural marvels, world-class museums, dynamic entertainment, and award-winning dining scene you'd expect from one of the world's greatest cities – all surrounding Palmer House, a Hilton Hotel. It's almost as if the city was built around the hotel. Because in many regards, it was. Following the Great Chicago Fire, the first Palmer House fell victim to the fury of the fire. It was the visionaries, Bertha and Potter Palmer, who decided to stay in Chicago and rebuilt the hotel, encouraging other prominent financiers to stay and do the same. That's why the hotel is surrounded by iconic culturally vibrant establishments uniquely identifiable to Chicago – The Art Institute, Millennium Park, Broadway in Chicago, Chicago Theatre, State Street – That Great Street, The Loop – Chicago's business and finance sector, Michigan Avenue, Lake Michigan & its beaches and running /jogging/biking lake front path, Wabash Arts Corridor, Jewelers Row and a plentiful food scene busting at the seams.

STORIES of Chicago

But we're more than just another big city and another hotel – our welcoming residents, inclusive neighborhoods, ease of access from coast to coast, Midwestern soul and history full of stories (many right here in Palmer House) truly make Chicago the city that feels like home. Explore our city, find things to do, start planning your trip, and discover your own unique Chicago style.

Sprinkled throughout the city are some of the culinary team's favorite spots - some lesser known than others, but all promise a delish meal and cocktail experience.

AN APPETITE FOR CULTURE

WITH RESTAURANT EXECUTIVE SOUS CHEF JASON SCHROEDER

GROWING UP, I WAS ALWAYS ATTRACTED TO FOOD. I definitely was the kid that would rather watch a cooking show any day over a cartoon. I think it was the way that my family introduced food to me. It was always a time for us to be together and enjoy one another's company in a way that kept a busy little boy occupied. One of my fondest memories was every Friday night, my family would have our grocery shopping and pizza night. We would make the dough right after we got home from school, giving the dough time to proof and then head out to the grocery store to select fresh ingredients for our toppings and for the weekly provisions.

Cooking and reading was really my escape and still is to this day. School was rather boring to me unless it was math or reading, which ironically are the two things, in my opinion, that a chef really needs to excel. I credit my mother with my love of books and reading. Reading opened my eyes to other cultures and countries and I was absolutely fascinated by what they ate and it only made me more curious about pursuing a career path into the culinary world. I had this immediate desire to recreate the dishes I read about for myself and to literally have a taste of culture that I had yet to experience for myself.

Working in restaurants since I was 15, has only made me want to be in a kitchen more. If you've never worked in a kitchen before, I can tell you several things that are certain – it's loud, it's brash and it's fast. And the people have always been some of the most creative, inspiring individuals from all walks of life who challenge you to be your very best and definitely make each and every day absolutely interesting and nothing short of fun.

Food for me has always been that bright spot. During culinary school I excelled, which was a refreshing experience having struggled to stay focused in the traditional school landscape. I had a passion for what I was learning and from that moment knew for certain it was what I was always meant to do. Living in Chicago at the time really perpetuated my culinary growth with the diversity and ethnic foods that you might not get to experience in small metropolitan cities or small towns.

"If you think about, when have you had some of the best moments of your life? Maybe it was a first date, gathering your family, going out with friends – but I guarantee there was some bread broken together, dinner shared and glasses clinked. You see it's something that is shared between people, when you can step away from the fast pace, internet, app world we live in today. I like to be guy behind the scenes that executes a perfect meal and allows people to make meaningful connections over a meal. I chose this career because meals make memories and strengthens the bonds between people."

KITCHEN TO COCKTAIL

FOOD COMPONENTS HAVE ALWAYS HAD A PLACE IN COCKTAIL FAVORITES, but a new trend finds the culinary and cocktail worlds merging more than ever before. Meal-themed cocktails are emerging in restaurants and bars with distinctive characteristics and make for a memorable experience.

Another element of this trend is vegetable juice based cocktails versus traditional fruit juice. Many vegetables have distinct flavors of sweet, earthy or spicy, and pairing that with the right spirit can make a delicious and healthier creation. In the cooler months, a bone broth base makes for a savory "stocktail" that is comforting and warm. Not only are the drinks themselves crave-worthy and interesting, but an added component that pushes innovation and expectation. It adds a fun dynamic among attendees, asking them to consider the texture and presentation.

The art of a culinary inspired cocktail can often be a gastronomical feat. Flavor pairing is carefully considered to balance sweet with spicy or bitter umami. Cutting-edge tools and techniques are used to get the blend of flavors, textures, and intrigue just right; from a centrifuge that is used to clarify oils and separate fats, a dehydrator for epic garnosh, or liquid nitrogen for ice cream or sorbet cocktails. The creation of the cocktail can become as much a part of the experience as drinking it.

From Kitchen to the bar, these cocktails are as much about the unforgettable experience as they are the taste.
